Introduction

This special volume of the Annals of Operations Research on the theme “Risk and Operations Research” aims to present the recent advances in optimizing risk management to the broader Operations Research community. It will focus on the theoretical, practical, and computational aspects of operations research and risk.

Topics

Potential topics include, but are not limited to:

- Operations Research in enterprise risk management
- Portfolio selection
- Social investment
- Optimization in low-carbon economy
- Optimization in real estate risk analysis
- Operational risk management
- Supply chain risk management
- Game theory in risk management
- Market risk tools such as value at risk
- Multi-criteria decision making in financial services
- Optimizing banking operations such as merger
- Operations Research in natural disasters
- Other topics of OR and risk

All high-quality papers on the topics of the special volume will be considered. Participants in the 1st 3-C Risk Forum & 2011 International Conference on Engineering and Risk Management (ERM), held at University of Toronto on October 28–30, 2011 (<http://risklab.utoronto.ca/conf/conf11/3c-risk-forum>), are especially encouraged to submit their work.

Manuscript Preparation and Submission

Instructions for authors can be found at:

<http://www.springer.com/business/operations+research/journal/10479>

Authors should submit a cover letter and a manuscript via the journal's online submission site. Manuscripts submitted after the deadline may not be considered for the special volume and may be transferred to a regular volume.

Please see the Author Instructions on the site if you have not yet submitted a paper through this web-based system. Be sure to note in the Manuscript Comment box that your work is intended for the special volume and to select the article type " SI: Risk and Operations Research". Papers will be subject to a strict review process managed by the Guest Editors and accepted papers will be published online individually, before print publication.
